OUTFITTING YOUR GARAGE:

If you still want garage organization options, there are many resources available in just about any price range. Grid Iron offers sturdy and adaptable garage storage solutions in four different kits—including wall panels and a tool bench (gridironusa.com). You can also use their metal wall panels and a huge assortment of shelves, cubbies, and hooks to custom outfit just about any space.

If it's in your budget, GarageTek (garagetek.com) can outfit you with your dream garage in no time. You won't have to lift a finger; your garage system will be designed and installed for you from floor to ceiling. Similar custom designed garage options include closetmaid.com and garagestoragecabinets.com.

Garage organizing has become so popular that products are available at almost every discount retailer and superstore. Home Depot has a huge selection of organizers as does organizedliving.com. For the ultimate in ceiling storage options check out mygaragestore.com.
